Free Statistical Consultation

Free statistical consultation available this fall, from graduate students enrolled in our practicum course STAT 551 \(Statistical Consulting\). We will continue accepting projects throughout the term until we have enough projects to ensure that all the students will be able to meet their requirements for the course. We are very far from that point at present. Of course, the sooner you submit your project, the sooner you may have a consultant working on your project. In particular, if you submit a project before classes start next week, there is a very good chance that your project will get selected in the first cycle of selections that the students will be making next week. For guidance on suitable projects and the desired form of project submissions, see the earlier announcement at: <http://www.stat.ubc.ca/SCARL/HowSCARLHelp/stat551.php>

Help Build Literacy: Recipes Needed!
